RESTORING RESPECT FOR THE AMERICAN CRAFTSMAN

Behind every finished project, there are many individual minds and hands that turn design concepts into remarkable reality. There are many roles required to execute classical projects, from architect to contractor to craftsman to laborers.

Millworks By Design works on projects that require high levels of skilled craftsmanship, as well as logistical organization. Being a career craftsman allows an individual to make a difference in the industry and in people's lives, making it a fulfilling profession, personally, as well as professionally. We encourage our team – the men and women who are engaged in executing and delivering high-end woodwork details –to dedicate themselves to our trade. We are confident that if they do, the legacy they'll leave behind for those who follow will be a positive one.

Restoring respect for the American craftsman is what Millworks By Design strives to do.
